New Air Conditioning for Food Warehouse

Your gift will help install reliable air conditioning in our food storage warehouse. Essential for keeping food ingredients cool, dry, and safe from spoilage in Ecuador's humid climate. This ensures that every meal packed by volunteers in the states reaches the children. It's a simple but vital step to ensure every OneMeal pack remains fresh and safe.

Financial Need: ~~$3,000~~

Thank you for your partnership in this transformative mission!

Completed Project Update

Thanks to the generous donation of the air conditioning system for our food storage warehouse, we are now able to guarantee better preservation conditions for ONEMEAL. The climate control system has helped protect the nutritional quality of the product, prevent losses caused by pests and humidity, and ensure that every meal reaches communities in optimal condition.

This improvement strengthens our food safety and storage standards, increasing the reliability and impact for the hope zones in Ecuador. We are deeply grateful for this contribution, which not only protects food, but also brings hope and well-being to many families.
